The textbook for the course is Linda Galler & Michael B. Lang, Regulation of Tax Practice (LexisNexis 2015). The book is currently under revision. By email, Professor Galler will provide students with the book, one chapter at a time. (By the time this assignment is posted on the Law School web page, you should have received an email from Professor Galler. If you have not, please contact her directly at Linda.Galler@hofstra.edu.) Students will need access to the assigned materials during class, in print or on their computers.

Students are also expected to have access to the following:

2. Internal Revenue Code and Treasury Regulations (many of the sections that we will cover this semester are not included in the statutory supplement used in other tax courses; students should select an on line source with which they are comfortable), and

The assignment for our first class meeting (Monday, January 12, 2015) is:

Introduction:

The Tax Lawyer’s Duty to the System

Pages 1-5

Chapter 1: Sources of Professional Regulation

I. State Regulation

Pages 1-1 – 1-10

II. Federal Regulation: Circular 230

Pages 1-10 – 1-16 (through indented quote)

IV. Federal Regulation: United States Tax Court Rules

Pages 1-43 – 1-44